

Brasilia Restaurant Cafe Bistro

Brasilia Restaurant Cafe Bistro is located right in the middle when tourists walk up Skolavordustigur on their way towards Hallgrims church. The restaurant offers various dishes, all prepared in Brazilian style. Head chef Silbene Dias Da Conceicao along with his sister Marcia Dias has prepared an especially enjoyable combination of Brazilian cuisine from all over Brazil. Among specialties are dishes like Feijoada, which is often considered to be the national dish of Brasil, rabada and hamburger bagunca, wich are hamburgers of different sorts. Brasilia also offers caipirinha which is an alcohol beverage with grapefruit juice or tropical fruit juice. Not to be forgotten is esfiha which is a popular hors-d'oeuvre in Brazil. Icelandic fish is, mainly haddock and cod, is prepared the Brazilian way. Of course we also offer cakes and alike, which are an inseparable part of every good restaurant. Brasilia ehf. is a private limited company owned by Pröstur Ottósson and the sisters Silbene, Marcia and Cleide Dias in other words some kind of a family invasion of the Dias sisters into Icelandic culture. It's a nice addition to the existing restaurants and aims to give guests an insight into Brazilian cuisine for a reasonable price.
