

Café Paris

The legendary atmosphere of Café Paris makes it the single most popular coffee house in Iceland.

At Austurstræti 14, in the heart of old Reykjavík, only a charming park square separates Café Paris from Parliament, never obstructing the view.

Guests often complement the charming establishment's renowned coffee, wine and spirits with a full menu or just light fare. During summertime one can sit outside and bask in a sun that seems never to set, while the flurry of the world's northernmost capital obviously passes by in every direction. During all seasons, Café Paris is one of the coziest spots in town. Café Paris – a fabulous spot to enjoy downtown Reykjavík at almost any hour! Oúi? Já!!
